KING'S DAUGHTERS HOSPITAL BENEFIT ATTRACTS MANY

Party at Martin's Night Club Gave Pleasure to Participants and Profit to Hospital.

The unique idea of giving a hospital benefit party at a night club proved not only popular but served as a means of many enjoying themselves until a late hour Wednesday evening.

The benefit was sponsored by a number of ladies for the King's Daughters hospital current expense fund and judging from the hearty response the cause was worthy and the cash realized justified the effort.

The popular pastime was keno for various considerations, many if not all the gifts were donated. The game of some forty or fifty players was spirited and enthusiasm ran high.

Mr. Frank Martin, owner of the place, very generously donated the use of his place, paraphernalia, lights, etc., which made this party and benefit possible. And served as host.

A number of ladies busied themselves in the cause and the result was gratifying. There is much thanks due, especially to the merchants who gave freely of their goods which served as prizes and the various donations of ticket buying all helped to swell the sum.

At this writing all financial returns had not yet been made, a number of tickets not accounted for. "I want to thank one and all," said Mrs. E. J. Leonard, president, "especially to the ladies who gave their time and effort in individual work. And the public as well that responded so liberally. I realize there are many demands made almost daily on the public for one thing and another, all worthy causes, hence my feeling of appreciation and thanks is all the greater. Our hospital has a current expense deficit of approximately $300.00 and this aside from the property debt fund must be realized and paid, if we are going to continue the splendid work the hospital is carrying on, saving lives in case of emergency and rendering treatment to those unable to pay for treatment, etc. Ours is a great work and it is well that we are giving support."

14 DIPPING VATS IN TWO COUNTIES REPORTED DESTROYED

Probe Being Made of Destruction of Property in Hancock County and Pearl River.

Destruction of 14 dipping vats in Hancock and Pearl River county in a flare of dissension was reported Monday from the state office of the federal bureau of animal industry, at Jackson.

Many of the destroyed vats had never been put in service, according to Dr. Hartwell Robbins, chief of the Jackson office who added that 12 of the ruined vats were in Pearl River county.

The disturbance came as a surprise to officials, who said they thought differences arising in the two counties some time ago had been composed.

The vats were part of the few still necessary in border counties. Mississippi has been tick free for the last few years except in a few isolated cases, and the Hancock-Pearl River area has developed some of the old feeling that prevailed in the early days of tick eradication work, although it was on such a local plane and of so minor a nature that no difficulty was expected to arise.

The recent outbreak was the first of this kind since the tempestuous early period of the control work in which several lives were taken in addition to heavy economic loss.

Bro. Vincent Loses Mother.

Mrs. Anna Barton, mother of Bro. Vincent, well-known member of the Order of the Sacred Heart and attached to the faculty at St. Stanislaus College, this city, died at Belmont, N. J., Wednesday morning at 5:30 o'clock, according to a message received here. Bro. Vincent had left Bay St. Louis on the Piedmont Limited Monday night and reached home probably several hours after her death.

Mrs. Barton had been ill for some time. She was in her late sixties. Bro. Vincent has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

CONVICTED OF WOODS BURNING

Kiln Resident Pleads Guilty To Setting Fire To Woods.

John Holden, of Kiln Community, Hancock county, was tried before Judge Fuent's court at Kiln, on Saturday, January 14, on the charge of "intentionally setting fire to woodland not his own." The defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to sixty days in jail and pay the costs of court—amounting to $16.55. On payment of costs the jail sentence was suspended.

The defendant was represented by Walter Gex, Jr., of Bay St. Louis and the State by E. J. Gex, county attorney.

This is the second time that the defendant has been sentenced for woods burning, making two suspended sentences "hanging over him." The State and Forest Service officials asked leniency of the court on account of the defendant's age, and because he faithfully promised to burn no more woods.

Officers Installed by Home Missionary Society For The New Year

The Woman's Home Mission Society met for the January meeting on Tuesday, January 17 at 3 P. M. at the Main Street Methodist church.

The important feature of the meeting was the installation of the new officers for 1933 which ceremony was in charge of Mr. Gray, the pastor.

The newly elected president, Mrs. Chas. Mitchell then took the chair and proceeded with the regular routine of business.

The treasurer reported considerable work being done on the parsonage, including a new roof.

The individual members made their pledges for the new year and discussed ways and means of raising funds to take care of material expenses.

There was quite a large attendance and everyone seemed enthusiastic and ready to make a banner record for 1933.

BAY HIGH BREAKS PINEVILLE'S WINNING STREAK; GIRLS WIN

In one of the most thrilling games of the year, the Bay High Boys came from behind in the final quarter to break the winning streak of the Pineville aggregation by a count of 32-27.

The victory was the fifth of the season out of six starts for the Bay High Quintet. The Bay High's last quarter come-back was nothing short of sensational, scoring 9 points to their opponents 5.

Pineville led at the end of the first quarter by 7 to 5 and at the close of the first half by 15-12.

Coach Phillips used only seven men in his effort to check the Pineville cagers, and during the second half the Tigers really outplayed the invaders. With the world wind start in the final period, the Tigers sank field goals in rapid succession.

Bontemps played the forward position showing five field goals and one foul ringer through the wicker to win scoring laurels with eleven points.

James was Pineville's biggest threat with 11 points to his credit. Ansley, at guard, played his outstanding game of the year, while doing his duty guarding, finished his night's work by shooting 8 field goals from a long range as a sidelineer.

The Bay High girls, after defeating the Orange Grove Lassies, kept up the fine work by turning back the Pineville girls in easy fashion by a score of 26-15. The Bay Girls were never in danger of defeat, leading throughout the game. Sawyer was again the offensive star with 15 points in her collection. Stella Turcotte was the outstanding defensive star, playing three different positions.

FEAR 3 DROWNED ON HUNTING TRIP TO LA. MISS. MARSH

Orleanians Missing Since Thursday of Last Week On Voyage to Grand Pass

That the three men who have been missing since late Thursday of last week, while on a hunting trip in Grand Pass, between Lake Borgne and Mississippi Sound, were drowned when their boat capsized in rough weather was the belief expressed by their relatives in New Orleans.

The men were: W. R. Douglas, Jr., 35, inspector of the state conservation department; Valentine Schaff, Jr., 30, of 1821 Paul Murphy street and Gabriel Nicholich, 38, of 8330 Birch street.

The water-logged boat, almost submerged in the water, was discovered Saturday afternoon by H. H. Hanson, of Brass Christian, Miss., friend of Douglas, who piloted a seaplane over the scene of the missing men's hunt. Subsequently a hat, glove and gas-line can, believed to have belonged to the trio, were taken from the water.

When the boat was found the witch was still on, indicating that the motor was running when the boat capsized. In the bow of the boat was one duck.

Reconstructing the tragedy, it is believed that the men, leaving at 10 a. m. Miss. Douglas, her sister-in-law, Miss Helen Douglas and a friend, Miss Helen Nicholson, departed on what was to have been a short hunt before nightfall and found themselves some distance from camp when the weather became rough.

Not wishing to allow the women to be alone during the night the men apparently decided to brave a return in spite of the unfavorable elements.

Tracks made by the three where they entered the swamps from a point on the shore about 2 and one-half miles from camp were visible at tracks made when they apparently re-entered the boat also were found.

The tragedy revealed that Schaff, one of the missing men, was secretly married to Miss Ethel Douglas, sister of Douglas. Members of the families learned that the marriage took place December 31, 1931.

Douglas was employed by the conservation department and was stationed at the camp from which the fatal hunting trip was made.

ESTEEMED RESIDENT PASSES AWAY TO ETERNAL REWARD

Seymour Carrio, Aged 68, Laid to Rest at St. Mary's Saturday Afternoon.

Long ill, Seymour Carrio, esteemed resident of Bay St. Louis, passed away at his residence, 226 Washington street, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A Catholic, he passed away fortified with the last sacraments of his church. He had been ill for quite a while.

Born at Waveland, the past twenty-seven years of his life he resided in Bay St. Louis with his family and was well and favorably known. His life had been a most exemplary one and his passing away means a loss to the community in more than the ordinary sense.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon from the late residence in Washington street, Rev. A. J. Gmelch, pastor of the church of Our Lady of the Gulf officiating, with interment in the family burial place at St. Mary's cemetery.

The pall bearers were grandsons of the deceased, Wallace J. Bontemps, Leroy D. Bontemps, Irwin Bontemps, J. V. Bontemps, Jr., Jesse Linam, Albert Linam.

In addition to his wife, who, before her marriage was Miss Margaret Kildee, seven children survive, namely, Mrs. Joseph V. Bontemps, of Bay St. Louis; Albert Carrio, of Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Pearl Fabre, of Houston, Texas; Mrs. John West, of Oark, Ark.; Clarence and Raymond Carrio of Bay St. Louis.

The funeral was largely attended many friends from away joining in the long funeral line. Notably were many and beautiful floral offerings. A member of W. O. W., Cedar Grove Camp, No. 507, members of that organization attended in a body, paying tribute to the memory of their departed one.

Stanislaus to Play Pascagoula High Here.

Tuesday, January 24, Stanislaus plays host to Pascagoula High Tuesday night. There will be a double-header, first game getting under way at 7:30.

The first bout for the season will probably be set for Friday night of the 27th with Bogalusa High.

C. OF C. IS BIG FACTOR IN TOWN

Local Organization Entitled To Membership of Every Citizen in Business.

It is noted whenever some threatening element arises that will prove damaging to Bay St. Louis and vicinity, the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce in every instance is resorted to.

Any object of public enterprise is always put through the C. of C. and hardly a day passes by that a call for concerted action and influence of this progressive body is not called for.

Yet—this body is hardly supported. Leading business men of Bay St. Louis are in the minority in membership. We find both business and professional men shrinking from giving their support.

The Chamber of Commerce right now is lacking support. Yet it is a factor in town and county for more and better business and as an agency to better conditions.

No agency of this section has worked harder for the shortest route to New Orleans than the Chamber of Commerce, and is still working and co-operating in the cause.

Were the list of members of this public enterprise to be published it would prove astonishing to many by the fact of the absence of the men in business and supposed to be leaders of our community. This conclusion does not exist elsewhere.

It was recently planned to publish the membership roster as a sort of roll of honor, but on second thought, due to the absence of so many, it was thought best not to. It might prove an expose rather than a complimentary gesture.

The business man you trade with, the butcher, grocerman, baker and down the line is conspicuous for his absence. The fee is only $10.00 per annum. Other communities, $25.00.

SERVE-SELF STORE SOON TO CELEBRATE TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Manager M. E. Badon is Optimistic of the Future—Strives to Serve Public

Within a short time the Coast Serve-Self Store will celebrate the tenth year of its existence in Bay St. Louis, and since that time is a span of no small consequence, by any means, the event-to-be is well worthy of mention.

The Serve-Self Store, located in the Echo Building, is probably, and we think it is, the first serve-self store in Bay St. Louis, another fact of interest. It has during this long period served thousands of customers, always with the best of goods and at the lowest prices. There are cheap prices at Serve-Self but no cheap goods.

The store is a home institution. Principally owned by coast residents, who pay taxes here, operated by Bay St. Louis residents, who live and spend their money locally and contribute to every cause whether it be civic, charitable or any other nature for the public good.

Mr. M. E. Badon is resident manager. He will soon celebrate his first year here, although serving here formerly on different occasions, as he has been connected with the firm of Mutchler & Ashton dating back some seven years.

Mr. Badon is pleasant at all times, solicitous to the customer's wants and no one leaves the store unless he or she is well pleased and satisfied with their purchases. Mr. Jack Bosarge, in charge of the meat department, knows his business from A to Z and is ever willing to assist the customer.

The Serve-Self Store, contrary to a recent malicious rumor, were to stay. A number of minor incidents are contemplated and the store is getting ready for a bigger and better business. Spring is at hand and for summer it is planned to exceed all former sales records. Mr. Badon says better goods at the lowest possible price will make this possible, plus service.

"I want the public to make our store their headquarters," said Mr. Badon, "and let us supply their every want and need. It is a pleasure for us to serve and give satisfaction. To please, to satisfy is our aim."

Lt. H. Chapman Flies From Patterson, La., to Honduras and Mexico—Head N. O. Flying School

New Orleans, La., Jan. 10.—Flying a tri-motor cabin plane and carrying two passengers, Lieut. Henry Chapman, New Orleans aviator, is now winging his way southward down the eastern coast of Mexico on a flight from Patterson, La., to Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

ACTION ON MARY JANE DELAYED

Petitioners Give Further Time in Which to File Complaint—Chef Office Closed

At a hearing before the Louisiana Public Service Commission, held Friday morning at City Hall, New Orleans, at which time the Louisville & Nashville's petition, asking that it be allowed to discontinue its train, known better as the Mary Jane, parties representing the public and opposing such discontinuance were asked to be given more time where in they may be able to present their side fully and more substantially was granted.

The matter will be called for public hearing at a later date.

The L. & N. asked that it be allowed to discontinue the services of a station agent at Chef Menteur and the practical absence of business at that point.

It will be remembered that both the mayor and city commissioners and Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce filed objection to the removal of the "Jane" train. A more vigorous fight in future is planned.

The Passion Play At Gulfport Next Week—3 Evenings

Gulfport gets the Freiburg Passion Play on January 23rd, 24th, and 25th.

The production is sponsored by the Joe Graham Post, 119 of the American Legion. Nothing in the line of religious or educational presentations recorded in the annals of that city can approach the significance of this announcement. The negotiations for this great Freiburg organization's appearance in Gulfport were brought about through the efforts of the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who brought the Legion and the Freiburg's into communication. The company is under the leadership of Adolf Fassnacht. His rendition of the role of "The Christ" is world renowned, his exacting role having brought him prominently before the public as one of the greatest artists the present generation has produced. He will bring the entire original cast of players to Gulfport just as it was produced in the New York Hippodrome, using over one hundred and fifty people in the cast, chorus and ensemble, making the event a memorable one for Gulfport and surrounding territory for a hundred miles. Promotion and ticket campaign headquarters are now open in the Municipal Building on 14th street, Gulfport, Miss., with regular attendants and special telephone for the convenience of out of town patrons so they may make their reservations early as all the indications point to a capacity engagement. We learn through the general chairman in charge of ticket sales and reservations that many towns within a radius of seventy-five miles are writing in for reservations and information and it is to be hoped this community will be well represented at one of the three performances given. It is the intention of this newspaper to be a first nighter and we are looking forward with a degree of pleasant anticipation.

Matinee Wednesday, January 25, 3 P. M. No seats reserved.

P. T. A. MEETING

The St. Joseph's Academy P. T. A. held its monthly meeting Thursday, January 5.

There was thanks given to Mrs. Hammer and grade mothers for successful handling of the Xmas party for the school children.

Bridge party will be given Valentine night, February 14. The public is invited. Entrance price $2.50. Next meeting will be for the election of officers.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. Edw. C. Carrere is to be congratulated on the splendid success achieved at the benefit card party for the church she gave last Thursday, at her residence, netting $101.

H. E. Wright, personal representative of Mayor Walmsley at New Orleans and John G. Regan of New Orleans, also a member of this committee of two, conferred with representatives of the City Council and Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club, Wednesday, with a view of putting on a barbecue and general celebration of the fact that actual work had begun on the building of the New Orleans-Gulf Coast Short-cut.

This celebration would take place in Bay St. Louis, Mayor Walmsley's representatives said. It was tentatively decided to select Wednesday, February 22. And already President Bro. William of St. Stanislaus College, has consented to give the college grounds for the day.

A special train would run out from New Orleans and another from Mobile. There would be sufficient provisions to serve from fifteen hundred to two thousand people.

The N. O. Brass Band would supply the music for the day.

H. Grady Perkins, representing the city, and C. G. Moreau representing Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club, were appointed a working committee for preliminary procedure.

A full committee was selected, to be approved and appointed officially, was left for the City Council. His Honor, Mayor G. Y. Blaize and President Emilio Cue of the Board of Supervisors were appointed to head the general committee.

This promises to be a big day in Bay St. Louis and its meaning of importance to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast was the general consensus of opinion. The committee adjourned to meet again.

Randolph J. Ladner was appointed for Lakeshore and Joseph Chalona for Clermont Harbor, Mayor E. G. Schwartz of Waveland, along with other civic leaders.

Lion Featured in "Half-Naked Truth"

Jackie, 180 pounds of five-year-old lion, was the most respected actor on the RKO lot during the production of "The Half-Naked Truth." Lee Tracy, Lupe Velez, Eugene Pallette, Frank Morgan and Shirley Chambers may actually have been enacting the featured roles, but Jackie held the respect of the troupe with his giant claws and menacing teeth.

The lion, claimed by Trainer Melvin Koonitz to be as gentle as a kitten, has worked in motion pictures since cub-hood. He was born at the Selig Zoo in Los Angeles, which specializes in producing and training motion picture animals.

Although Trainer Koonitz was ready to make an affidavit attesting to Jackie's docility, Director Gregory La Cava took no chances. Expert marksmen with high-powered rifles stood about and prepared to remove Jackie if he ran amuck on the huge set.

MAMMY MINSTREL "HARLEM ALL-STARS" FEBRUARY 16, 1933

The surprise announcement we promised you last week, we are able to make now, without disappointment.

There was a little question that had to be settled, also the question prior to be paid the artists. That is all ironed out now and we announce a Minstrel Show on Thursday night, February 16th at the St. Joseph's Gym and we have engaged the "Harlem All Stars" from New York.

Don't miss it for it is given by the St. Margaret's Daughters for funds to distribute food and medicine to the poor.

We have been advised to notify all the doctors in Bay St. Louis to prepare for a busy week after the Minstrel Show for there will be more split ribs and wrenched sides from the laugh this show will produce.

We will have another interesting announcement to make next week about the Minstrel Show—don't forget to watch "The Echo."

Don't forget the date—place and time—Thursday night, February 16, at St. Joseph's Gym.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. Edw. C. Carrere is to be congratulated on the splendid success achieved at the benefit card party for the church she gave last Thursday, at her residence, netting $101.

TEN BEAUTIFUL WORDS.

WHAT are the ten most beautiful words in the English language? The publisher Wilfred D. Funk attempted their selection. You will probably be surprised at the ones he listed basing the choice on the following:

"The long vowel sounds and the soft consonants make these words flow smoothly. Beauty and sound are not enough. 'Mush' is a word pleasant to the ear, but its connotation is ugly. Beauty of meaning is not sufficient. 'Mother' is one of our most loved words, but it lacks euphony."

"I don't like this list, because I don't like soft words," said Hendrik Von Loon, who irrelevantly adds: "Dawn" is like a dead cat." Others join in the process of selection although Dr. Felix E. Shelling, English Professor at the University of Pennsylvania, said: "I have no opinion on such an absurd subject. Words are valuable only in their associations and significances and in no other way." Among those who selected a list of ten words were Edwin Markham, Mary Austin, and Reinold Werrenrath.

For the comparison of our readers we list below the ten words selected by each of these four specialists:

Funk: Dawn, hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquil, mist, luminous, chimes, golden melody.

Markham: Reverberating, chryselephantine, imperishable, sea-sands, empyrean, coliseum, nevermore, plutonian, ideal California.

Austin: Eyelid, twilight, slumberous, immemorial, unconquerable, emulous, valiant, incommunicable, waconda, death.

Werrenrath: Home, marine, vernal, human, ballad, glow, noble, strength, cloud, melody.

In connection with words the Philadelphia Inquirer recalled a former incident, saying: "Twenty years ago there was a contest to determine the twenty-five most beautiful words in the language, and it was won by a hard-headed New York lawyer. His list was as follows: Melody, splendor, adoration, grace, eloquence, virtue, innocence, modesty, faith, truth, peace, nobility, joy honor, love, divine, heaven, hope, harmony, happiness, purity, justice, liberty, radiance, sympathy. From this list the judges struck out four words as lacking in euphony compared to the other words. These words were: grace, divine, justice, and truth. Grace and justice were discarded because of the hardness of the g in grace and of the j in justice. The word truth had a metallic sound, the judges declared; and, while divine was beautiful in sentiment, they held that it lacked euphony."

THE SHORT-CUT

NO TIME is lost in inaugurating the building of New Orleans-Shortcut highway following awarding of various contracts a few days ago. Already masses of material have been delivered at Logtown and vicinity for the construction of bridges and other work that is to immediately follow.

Visitors to that section say considerable material is already on the ground and that the preliminary work has been started. As is understood this work will have to be finished by July in order to procure federal funds that are to match State money and no time must be lost.

It will require one year and over for the built-up embankment to settle in order to receive the final topping and to become permanent for regular traffic. Dimensions of the top surface through the marsh will be sixty feet.

This is perhaps the best news we have had within a long time.

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES.

WITH the building of the Mississippi river bridge above New Orleans Southern Pacific trains will save forty-five minutes to make the ferry trip, a saving of time and avoiding a nuisance of delay. Visitors to California find this the only inconvenience on the entire route to San Francisco. Here trains are ferried across to Oakland, but even that which was considered impossible heretofore, that of bridging San Francisco Bay, will now soon be built, sufficient funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation having been procured. Nothing seems impossible today. Every heretofore obstacle is overcome.

Senator Borah has introduced a bill to repeal the Home Loan Bank which is in process of organizing and getting ready to function. The Home Loan Bank measure is considered unsound and a political farce.

Outside of official bodies the Rotary Clubs of the various coast towns, and other civic clubs as well, seem to be about the only actively engaged bodies in the interest of the different welfare generally. Both the Rotary and Kiwanis in Gulfport and Biloxi played important roles during the holidays and will continue their influence for the new year.

Pass Christian has developed quite an industry this winter in shipping raw oysters to the extent that we are told the payroll each week extends to over three thousand dollars. This business is open to all who will and could be carried on in Bay St. Louis or Waveland to any extent. It seems to be a good bet overlooked. We are pleased for our neighboring city Pass Christian. Its people are to be complimented on their enterprise and energy.

LEGISLATURES BUSY

THE legislatures of forty three states are now at work in an effort to solve the problems of taxation, unemployment relief and economy through various governmental reorganizations. In practically every state, the people are complaining of the excessive burden of taxation and demand instant relief, which is well nigh impossible. In many states, the pell-mell rush to economy imperils certain governmental functions that are proper and beneficial and some of these will topple under the attack. However, most of them will be back on the job within the next decade and the harm that is done will be only temporary.

An interesting phase of the present clamor is the interest being taken in governmental affairs by men and women who gave little or no thought to the subject a few years ago when they were "riding high." Whether their activities will be translated into a permanent and intelligent interest in the affairs of government remains open to question, but most of us hope that such will be the case.

The average citizen should not lose sight of the fact that taxation today is burdensome because of the depression. In good times—a few years ago—the public was quick to applaud those who carelessly and profligately spent public funds and issued bonds to rapidly improve existing conditions and facilities. Today, they are paying the piper because they were not interested in government when extravagance was a fetish.

TWO SIDES OF A CASE.

CONSIDERABLE agitation exists over the effort of the L. & N. to discontinue operation of the train popularly known as the Mary Jane.

Many say this will probably lead to a further effort at a later date to annul other trains. But one can hardly expect the railroad to operate at a loss of dollars and cents. No private individual, no business man, would think of continuing his business at a loss. It would prove in time nothing less than suicide.

However, protestants who appeared in New Orleans last Friday before the Louisiana Public Service Commission wish to show where the train if discontinued would so affect the coast that other trains would as a result suffer such loss until the whole railroad fabric of business would be put to shreds.

Failing to patronize railroads is one of the surest ways of destroying the company's business and it does seem that both sides should be given a full hearing and let the result decide.

That is why the hearing has been postponed. It is hoped that proponents for continuing operating the Mary Jane train will have ample time and will prove their case. It is said to be the most convenient train for Coast-N. O. travelers.

PROPERTY THAT IS DEAR AT ANY PRICE.

WITH two major transactions of realty sales at Pass Christian this week there appears to be a revival in real estate values and demands.

This is by no means surprising. The Coast has always been a desirable place to dwell and values while possibly not heretofore active have never sagged. With the advent of a new season it is reasonable to suppose that from now on there will be quite a demand for desirable premises at the right price. Boom prices are a thing of the past. Sane dealings are capable of great volume of business.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland values have never deteriorated. Demands have been few and far apart, but a well-taken care of piece of property and one that is generally desired is always in the forefront of any possible market that may arise. Old homes have no value. They show lack of care and are dear at any price.

WHERE THE ORANGE IS NOT NATIVE

IT is not generally known the palm plant is not a native of California where they flourish seemingly without number. Neither is the orange native, although California vies with Florida in orange production. Three of the first four planted in California are still growing in the unforgettable patio of the Mission Inn (hotel) at Riverside, 70 miles away from Los Angeles. No visitor to the Golden State should fail to visit the Inn. It is said to be one of the most unusual and interesting hotels in the world. A day's visit and luncheon will repay the visitor. At Riverside and vicinity the orange (naval) bears to advantage. To pluck one without authority is a public offense and punishable by $5.00 fine for each plucked. When at Mission Inn ask to see Mrs. Richardson. Have a chat with her. Tell her you read this in The Echo.

PASSING OF THE EX-PRESIDENT.

THE passing away of President Coolidge at his home a few days since has been the National subject of the week. He was known and beloved in more ways than one. His administration will go down into history as one of the more successful ones. Not due to the fact his administration covered one of the most flourishing periods of prosperity our country ever enjoyed, following the war, but because of his conservatism and fine statesmanship. President Coolidge has not been a well man for many years. It is stated. It is remembered that only a seemingly short while since he passed through Bay St. Louis and both he and Mrs. Coolidge stood on the rear platform of one of the evening trains bound for New Orleans. His face then, with its noble countenance, placid and implacable, showed none of the roseate color of health. His appearance with the First Lady was Democratic and of course, free of any ostentation. They were showered with flowers and plaudits.

SAUNTERINGS. From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS
(For the Sea Coast Echo)

A MID the roaring din and swarming activity of a city's streets, one may observe many little impromptu acts from life's big drama of human existence.

In most instances these every-day actors are totally unmindful of the audience they might attract as they go on with bits of love, humor, deceit, pathos, jealousy, or horrifying tragedy.

About 7:30 each morning as the tide of downtown office workers swell the streets with traffic, a modest car of ancient vintage draws up before an office building. A middle-aged man alights. Taking his place before the wheel is a smiling, pleasant-faced lady. Their lips meet for a brief moment, as they kiss good-bye.

This tender, daily scene seems enveloped in an atmosphere of pure mutual affection and devotion be- years of respect and devotion between a man and his wife.

Traffic in the rear may grow impatient if a green light is showing, but this dear couple are much too absorbed in themselves to be distracted by any word by happenings about them.

Somehow, we look forward to this daily act. It gives the starting day a brighter aspect, and belies the belief that modern views on love and marriage are crowding all the romance, beauty, and honor away from this sacred institution.

Directly across the street from the above scene is located the Post Office and Federal Building.

A few hours hence pathos, humor, and oftentimes tragedy will hold forth during the session of Federal court. Violations of Uncle Sam's laws are brought to trial in this building. Liquor and dope runners, smugglers, counterfeiters, prohibition law violators, and aliens who attempt to gain illegal entry into this country make up the cases that are tried here before Federal judges.

Serious offenders are brought in handcuffed to U. S. Marshalls. There may be traces of a cynical smile on the lips of these hard-boiled prisoners as they enter the courtroom. But after the judge pronounces a long stretch of years at hard labor, these wretched humans oftentimes change their attitude, seeming almost pathetic then.

Last week a scene of tragedy was enacted on San Antonio's main thoroughfare amid a sidewalk crowded with homeward bound workers.

A young man attempting, in his way, to right an alleged wrong done his sister fired several shots at close range into the body of another man. "Your time has come," he said, as they met.

From his post of duty nearby, a policeman rushed to the scene of the shooting, his own revolver drawn, and ready for action. No resistance was offered. Handing his smoking revolver to the officer, the young fellow surrendered. The curtain falls on this scene. . . . death for one actor. . . . for the other there are still other lines, and still more scenes.

Alike many curious humans, wild deer are possessed with the bad habit of meddling in affairs of others that do not concern them. If a couple of rival bucks meet in some secluded spot to settle the question of who is to be the "big shot," in the local "deer racket," there is sure to be a loud clashing of horns as these fleet-footed scrappers upstart and jab at each other with their spreading antlers.

This clashing of horns bring to the scene of battle deer from everywhere within hearing distance. Coyotes and wild javelin hogs also gather, standing by in expectation that one or both battlers might be rendered hors de combat.

Southwest Texas huntmen have capitalized on this weakness. Deer hunting equipment of expert hunters include two pieces of deer horn, which are knocked and rattled together. This ruse has proven the trap for many a curious buck with "fight fan" ideas.

On Tuesday, January 17, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was inaugurated governor of Texas, succeeding Governor Ross S. Sterling, who will retire to public life.

This is the second time the majority of Texas voters has seen fit to bestow this high honor upon Miriam A. Ferguson. Her well known husband "Jim" Ferguson was impeached during his term of office as governor. Mrs. Ferguson was elected by an overwhelming majority in the gubernatorial campaign that followed. Her wholesale prison pardon record during her term as governor created much comment from the press. At the expiration of this term Mrs. Ferguson was candidate for re-election, but was defeated by San Antonians who are in the 'know' can direct you to 'Game Cock' fights which attract large, enthusiastic Mexican audiences on Sunday afternoons. As this type of so-called sport is not within the law, the meeting place must be changed from time to time. They are usually held on the outskirts of the city. However, frequently a fight is held in the Mexican section, not very distant from the heart of downtown San Antonio. Admission charge is 25 cents to most fights.

Cock fighting vies with the bull ring as a popular national pastime amusement in Mexico.

A few of these game fowl are brought from south of the Rio Grand but most are raised in San Antonio and adjoining towns, netting the raisers quite a profitable income. High stakes are often waged on the outcome of these fights. And sometimes the owners of the roosters get into a free-for-all over a close decision.

SINCE MOTHER STARTED WRITING VERSE

All of us have crosses to bear
Things to annoy us; reasons for care;
But my family and I will soon need a nurse
Everything's going from bad to worse—
Since Mother started writing verse.

Dar' goes around with a pre-occupied air,
Right on the verge of tearing his hair.
Used to be jolly—now the reverse.
Looks like a man riding a hearse—
Since Mother started writing verse.

I'll tell you this—I'll take my vow,
Things can't go on as they are now.
There'll be a blow-up—it won't be long.
No jury will think that we are wrong—
If Mother starts to write a song.

COME NEW YEAR

Come New Year smiling bright,
Forget the past;
Shed over us thy sweet light,
Some gift thou hast.
Come with thy riddle-old,
What will we see?
Open thy chest of gold,
Give it to me.
Come now, hide doubt and shade;
From out our eyes;
Come as a child who's
Dreams in the skies.
Come as the singing lark,
In glad surprise;
Come friend with Hope's bright spark,
To soothe our sighs
Come guide us on life's way.
To rainbow's end;
Our time to spend.
Come brother to our side,
Taking our arm;
Come New Year with us glide,
Same through life's storm.

County News

By R. H. BRYSON,
(County Agent)

AS WE SEE IT.

WE entered the New Year with a spirit of optimism, yet in planning a farm program for 1933, a year which promises very little economic improvement, careful consideration should be given to those features essential to production of all products needed for the family and farm animals, and with especial attention to those products on the list which are most popular on the markets in an effort to produce the highest quality so that if market conditions justify they may be sold at a profit.

Even if the products produced are of good quality, unless offered to the unsympathetic buying public in an attractive container, and properly packed, only an average price may be expected.

With a vivid picture of these conditions and the knowledge that there has been only a slight reduction in taxes, our brightest outlook is in the use of best seed of most staple feed and food crops planted in most productive soil, and offering to the trade highest quality products in attractive containers.

With these thoughts in mind, it seems to us, the logical things to do, is careful selection of soil, and planting of those crops which, in addition to their sale and feed value, will increase soil fertility.

Even after selecting the best soil, unless ideal weather conditions prevail, without liberal application of fertilizer, only a small percent of the crop yields will be suitable for the market under the restricted conditions, therefore, it is easy to get the picture that no farm program is complete without livestock to utilize the off-grade products.

Having in mind the Cow, Sow and Hen program, and the knowledge that practically all the feeds needed for the daily cow can be produced on the farm, and along with this, by selling the cream or butter fat, and feeding the skim-milk as a supplement to other feeds to pigs and chickens, we are assured of a good living and a small cash income.

SOIL IMPROVEMENT

Soil improvement should occupy as much attention in the farm program as the growing of "cash" or "credit" crops. By a system of rotation and growing of legume crops on practically all crop land every year the soil fertility will be greatly increased. SOY BEANS should be sown in every row of corn at time corn is planted—they do not require additional cultivation or attention.

AUSTRIAN PEAS or HARRY VET-GIT should be sown on a part of the farm land each fall to protect the soil from leaching from winter rains and to add fertility to the soil when plowed under in the spring. If this program is practiced consistently year after year, we can overcome bad conditions like at present with but little discomfort.

"God's best gift to us is that he gives us not things but opportunities."

LOOKING AHEAD.

Are you satisfied with your agricultural accomplishment during the year 1932? Let's stop for a few minutes to review and look back over what we did during 1932, and see if we cannot make a better showing during 1933?

What about the crop program during 1932? Did we really do the very best we knew how, or do we feel in our conscience that what we did was not exactly right but thought maybe we would succeed anyway? Did we put our hearts into the work? Have we made the farm home as attractive as we could? What about the convenience for mother and the children? Couldn't we have made their tasks easier? What about removing the stumps and briars from the yard and replanted with flowers and shrubbery, repair that dragging gate, and other odd jobs about the house and barn? All of these add to the attractiveness of the home and is a lot more profitable than some other ways of passing the time.

Think these questions over and then give an answer to yourself. Let's be just a little hard on ourselves when we write the answer. Let's not justify our acts of omission by excuses and alibis.

What about the soil from which we get our crops? Have we been fair to it? You saw some of the crops were poor last year. The quality was bad and the yield poor. There is a reason. You will find the answer in looking back over what you did. You have taken out of the soil until there is no plant-food left. Poor soils account for poor quality and low production. Is the soil to blame? Let's correct this condition in 1933. Build up your soil by growing more legume crops, such as soy beans; plant enough to furnish all the good hay your cows and work stock will need, and some to plow under for soil improvement.

Have the dairy cows been profitable? No! Well, who is to blame for that? If you have unprofitable cows they should be sold. If you do not sell them that is your fault.

Or, perhaps they were good cows, but poorly fed and cared for. Whose fault is that? Of course, none but our own. But you say you had a shortage of feed. That does not in the least excuse or underfeed. Let's devote more acreage and time and attention to feed crops. With a soil, if given one-half a chance, and a flood of sunshine as a gift of mother nature, we can produce and cure just as good hay in South Mississippi as can be bought from Kansas, and the cost of producing this hay will not be much more than the freight charges, if shipped in, so why pay the Kansas farmer a big profit or feed when you can produce your own hay and at the same time increase your soil fertility?

FARMER'S ATTENTION.

The local committee on Federal Crop Production loans has been organized, and those desiring aid through this channel should file application as soon as possible. See Mr. Edward L. Jones, Secretary to the Committee at 144 Main street.

EXEMPTION FROM HOMESTEAD TAX IS CONNER'S AIM

Governor Studies County's Financial Problems—Sales Tax.

Exemption from all taxes of Mississippi homesteads, rural and urban, to a liberal maximum of value, is the next avowed objective of Gov. Senett Conner and his administration, the governor announced recently. Achievement of this progressive step may come before 1934 taxes accrue.

As a preliminary step in that direction the executive said that he was starting immediately the machinery of the State Budget Commission, the State Tax Commission and other state agencies for the compilation of the necessary data and information.

The survey, which will extend into counties and municipalities, in a broad sense, will embrace the charting of all present forms of ad valorem tax levies, which are now levied against homesteads, including the distribution of these taxes thus collected.

Plan For Exemptions.

With this information, together with the listing of the valuation of homesteads for the striking of an average and the ultimate fixing of a maximum for exemption, there will be drawn an exact picture of present expenditures, the method by which these expenditures can be curtailed and the loss to the state, counties and municipalities by virtue of the statewide exemptions to be granted.

Even with curtailed local expenditures, the exemptions will necessitate the partial shifting of the ad valorem tax burden on remaining property to other sources of revenue—and there is no secret being made to the fact that the "other source" program will rely strongly upon a broadening of the sales tax, proceeds all of which now goes into the state treasury.

"The State government has balanced its budget in a sensible way," said the governor. "Expenses were cut for ordinary operations of the government by nearly 50 per cent, direct control of these expenditures was placed with the strengthened State Budget Commission, and deficits were prohibited by making it an illegal act subjecting the offending parties to censure from office, facing a misdemeanor charge and being civilly responsible."

Shift of Taxation.

The county and municipal survey will enable the governor to ascertain the extent of the shift to taxation from property exempted so that it will be known to what extent the new sources of taxes—an increased sales tax—must be sent upward to allow the orderly functioning of local governments.

The poorer counties, if the exemptions were fixed at $3,000 or so, would suffer severely because they have few farms and homes carrying higher valuation. This phase will call upon the advocates of the homestead plan for closer scrutiny than perhaps any other phase.

"I not only favor exemption of homesteads, and strongly recommend it, but I am not going to stop by favoring it," said Conner. "I am going to find some way by which it can be done."

"Mississippi can never be a great state until the homes of her people are secure, and the homes cannot be secure without a limited exemption. Now they are endangered by private debts, voluntarily assumed through mortgages, and by taxation, the most of which they voted for in the forms of bond issues."

SPORTS AT STANISLAUS

Stanislaus opened the basketball season last Sunday with the Deddeux High. When the final whistle blew the score stood 41 to 41; after an extra period the teams were still deadlocked 43-43. After two more extra periods the game was called with the score tied 47 to 47.

Stanislaus showed a fast floor team in Kidd, Blaize, Maurigi, Gerchow, Walker and Roth. Deddeux has a well-oiled machine that will undoubtedly give trouble in the Regional tournament.

Tuesday night Stanislaus hooked up in the second game with Picayune. This is the same team that burnt Stanislaus out in the 1932 Regional Tournament. The team representing Picayune this year is just as good as the one of last year.

The game was a closely guarded affair from start to finish with Stanislaus taking the lead on goals that count, and when the smoke of battle cleared away the score stood 18 to 15.

Kidd and Blaize played a great floor game ably assisted by Maurigi Gerchow and Roth. Our team more than makes up for its size by its speed and aggressiveness, we still have some polishing to do in order to obtain perfect team-work.

Stewart of Picayune was easily the best on defense and offense.

Crack Dancers in "Half-Naked Truth"

Twenty-four hour dancers who equally combine expert dancing ability and beauty of face and body, appear in "The Half-Naked Truth," RKO-Radio Picture at the A. & G. Theatre, Sunday and Monday.

The girls were selected from a score of applicants by Director Gregory La Cava. They are of uniform height and have displayed splendid grace in their dance routines, it is said.

"The Half-Naked Truth" features them in a Broadway musical comedy in which Lee Tracy, as a King of Ballyhoo, has placed his client after skyrocketing her to the front page headlines. Lupe Velez is co-featured, and Eugene Pallette, Frank Morgan and Shirley Chambers are also cast in this original story. Ben Markson and H. N. Swanson, for which Bartlett Cormack and Corey Ford wrote the adaptation. The film was suggested by "Phantom Fane," a biography of the late Harry Reichenbach, Broadway's bal-lyhoo impresario.

1933 WORLD'S FAIR ON SOUND BASIS AS YEAR STARTS

Every Feature Planned Will Be Ready For Opening On June 1.

Status, Chicago, Jan. 18.—When Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress—opens on June 1 every feature contemplated in the program announced two years ago will be ready.

Every building will be completed as scheduled.

Every major item of every exhibit will be in place.

This New Year message was issued by Exposition officials following a review of work accomplished during 1932 and a forward view of work still remaining to be done.

Millions Spent on Construction.

Approximately $6,000,000 has already been spent on the Exposition's construction program—$5,534,702.04 up to December 1, the last accounting period, to be exact.

Exhibit space in Exposition buildings and special Exhibit Buildings costing a total of $4,755,324.78 are under contract. More than 230 of the largest industrial organizations and groups of organizations will be exhibitors.

Contracts for the entertainment and amusement of visitors representing an investment of an additional $4,300,000 have been signed.

The Federal Government has appropriated $1,000,000 for its building and exhibit. Forty-four states of the Union have taken official action in preparation for exhibiting. Sixteen foreign nations have officially accepted President Hoover's invitation and in fourteen other nations plans for participation are being actively pushed by official and semi-official groups.

Facilities For a Large City.

Last year's construction program was an epic in steel and concrete and the most extensive annual building program of any international exposition in history.

A year ago only three Exposition buildings were standing—the Administration Building, old Fort Dearborn and the Travel and Transport Building. The Hall of Science and a group of three buildings—Social Science Hall, Communications Building and Electrical Building—were being built on Northerly Island.

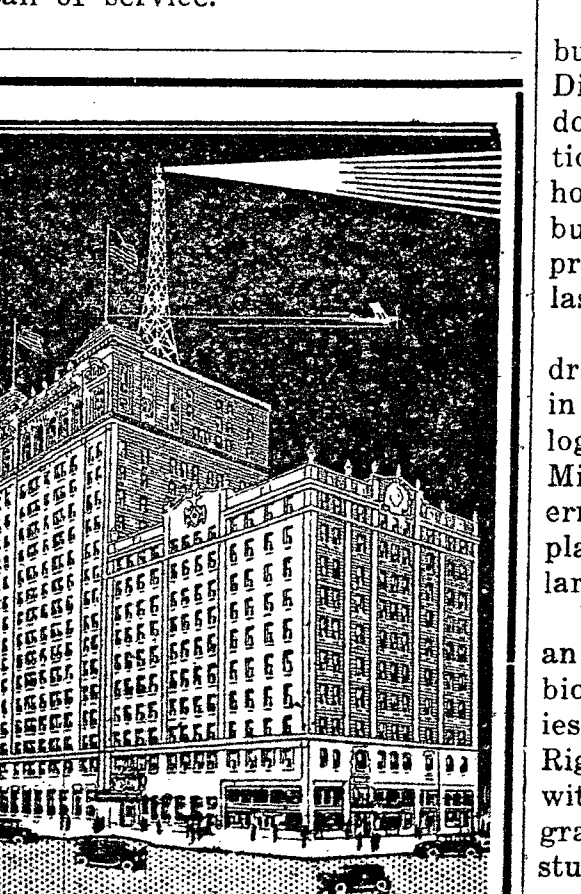

During 1932 every remaining important construction project was begun and many partly completed. An underground city of conduits and mains, ten miles of sanitary sewers, sewers was built—ten miles of water five miles of storm sewers, ten miles of conduits and utility cables—facilities for a city of 1,000,000 souls.

Work was started on a water pumping station, three sewerage pumping stations and a central electrical sub-station to accommodate a population of Exposition visitors approximating the population of Detroit or St. Louis.

On Sound Financial Basis.

The Fair, solvent, had an undistributed balance—cash and United States Treasury certificates of $1,400,000.

There is every reason to feel, said Exposition officials, that the remainder of the program so successfully carried on in 1932 will be completed and that June 1, 1933, will see the opening of A Century of Progress complete from the largest building and the most impressive exhibit to the tiniest convenience and detail of service.

BEAUTY—YOUR BIRTHRIGHT

(For the Sea Coast Echo)
YOUR COMPLEXION.

THE two greatest aids to a good clear complexion are the daily bath and proper elimination. Unless you are clean inside as well as out, your complexion will suffer. Now granting that you have attended to these two essentials do you know how to cleanse your face?

If you like cream as a cleanser, be sure that you have a good grade of cleansing cream. The lifying creams are best, as they melt and penetrate the pores. Undress so you can include your neck in the treatment. Wrap a towel around the head to protect the hair.

Put the cleansing cream on the inside of the fingers of both hands, smear it over the face with an upward rotary motion, giving a few extra strokes to the chin and nostrils where blackheads collect. Use a downward motion on the neck.

After the cream has been well rubbed in, remove excess with a clean soft rag or a cleansing tissue, then sponge entire face and neck with a cleansing lotion.

If the skin feels very dry, apply a small bit of nourishing cream to the face. Pure olive oil may be substituted for the cleansing cream. It penetrates and does not clog the pores. To make the cleansing lotion, take four and one half cups of water, one teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda, one teaspoon of soda, place on the fire and let boil. When cold add one teaspoon of Aromatic Spirits of Ammonia and one teaspoon of Epsom salts. Stir until salts is dissolved. A drop of perfume may be added if desired.

This lotion is not only cleansing, but is very good for oily skin and scattered pimples.

Always be sure to cleanse the face at night before you go to bed. While you are sleeping, give the skin a chance to breathe. And above all, never touch your face unless you know that your hands are clean.

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

Hollywood opens the new year faced with the necessity of economies that will do much to sober up the entire movie world. When business slumped sometime ago, the film concerns accepted the current belief that the depression would soon pass, but the producers are now getting down to brass tacks, including the disposal of many show houses that have weakened their financial structure.

As far as the public is concerned, one of the best moves would be the abandonment of the cycles of similar pictures that have been turned loose in such droves during the past two years.

Fox, after a complete reorganization, plans to increase personnel, cut picture cast in a centralized plant.

MGM, for sometime considered the outstanding producing company, believes that it will hold its position during 1933. Last year it produced "Grand Hotel" and was also well pleased with "Smilin' Through," "Strange Interlude," and "The Champ."

Paramount's product is considered greatly improved over product about a year ago, and, under the unit production system, expects to better their pictures this year. Of course, the studio was beset by financial worries during the past year.

RKO-Radio had its money troubles but managed to produce "A Bill of Divorcement" and "Animal Kingdom," besides several other productions. The studio has managed to hold recent productions within their budgets and feels that this year's product will be far in advance of last year's.

Universal plans more historical dramas, with a reversion to action in stories in lieu of excessive dialogue. Upon the retirement of Tom Mix, the studio will abandon Westerns and blood and thunder chapter plays which have revived in popularity.

Warner Brothers is regarded as an efficiently operated lot, with biographs and characterization stories featured during the past year. Right now, "Red Meat," concerned with a packing family, is on the program, with Edward G. Robinson and studio pilots plan to watch newspapers carefully for ideas and plots.

Columbia's, The Bitter Tea of General Yen" was turned loose last week, with a cast headed by Barbara Stanwyck and Nils Asther. It is the story of an American girl, held prisoner in Shanghai during an uprising. Peggy Hopkins Joyce will enter the movies as the feminine lead opposite Rudy Vallee in Paramount's "International House," which will feature radio and screen players.

Lee Lacy, former star for Columbia, has signed a contract with MGM. George Arliss' latest, "The King's Vacation" has been finished a week ahead of schedule, which is explained by his practice of rehearsing the cast for three weeks before the cameras are allowed to shoot.

Edward G. Robinson is about to begin work on "Big Shot," which will concern a neighborhood political boss, who organizes picnics and distributes three turkeys to this supporters.

Raquel Torres will play opposite Jack Holt in the picturization of Joseph Hergeheimer's novel, "Tam-pico."

A GRAY DAY

The day is dull and gray, With storm upon the air; The clouds full of dismay, Filled with much pain and care.

The rain in streams comes down, Hiding the earth from view; Flooded the streets and town, While lightnings fires brew.

Alone and sad, I sit, Gazing far out to sea; The winds in anger flit, So wan and drearily.

But soon the skies will clear, And peace will smile again; My heart will know no fear, Nor will I then complain.

BALANCING BUDGET POPULAR OVER THE COUNTRY JUST NOW

Cost of Carrying on Federal Government Must Be Reduced—No Limit to Taxes

BALANCE the budget. That's the cry just now which is resounding throughout the length and breadth of the nation.

At Washington, the national lawmakers say there will be no steps taken in the way of providing revenue for the operation of governmental activities until the cost of government has been fixed.

To that end advocates of economy are whetting their pruning knives for one of the most important major operations, it seems, that has ever taken place on capitol hill.

Congressmen and senators are going to cut the garment to suit the cloth, and this does not necessarily mean that the efficiency of the government be impaired.

This announcement from the nation's seat of government is but the echo of similar action being demanded in every subdivision of government throughout the country.

School districts almost everywhere are laboring under heavy tax burdens. Townships and parishes find themselves in the same dilemma. Counties almost unanimously are just now confronted with the necessity of action in the way of lowering the burdensome cost of government, while the lawmakers of the state are hearing in no uncertain terms the demands from their people that more economy must be practiced in the administration of the affairs of state government.

All in all it is the voice of the taxpayers back home. The man with the forty or fifty acre tract of land, whose products have fallen below the cost of production, is sending up this cry for relief.

In times of prosperity he, along with everyone else, has been little concerned with the affairs of government. In times of adversity such as he finds himself today he reaches out in a desperate effort for relief. Many of these taxpayers have little familiarity with the affairs of government. They have permitted themselves to become lax in their interest in government, content to cast their ballots on election day for the popular candidates, regardless, in many instances of their fitness for the position for which they are offering.

Years roll round, extravagances creep into government. Then adversity settles upon all with the sad reality that something must be done, and they demand that it must be done forthwith. They want something, but in most cases the demand is being made by many wholly ignorant of what procedure is necessary to correct the difficulty, and blind to the fact that the shortcomings in government, the result of an accumulation of years, cannot be corrected with one heroic stroke.

The pull out of the mire must be accomplished in the same way as it was in getting into it, if the efficiency of the government is to be preserved. Otherwise, the pruning knife may be applied to a vital spot and the result will be disastrous to all concerned.

Burdensome taxes for the support of the government are complained of in Hancock County much the same as in other sections. The people here are demanding relief from excessive taxation as other communities are making the same demand.

Taxation is a complex problem. An effort for an equal distribution of the tax load should be aimed at. It is not enough to say that government cost must be reduced and set the cost for the administration of this or that department, without first carefully studying the department affected, and determining in a sane and businesslike way what the functions of that department are and what the expense is.

Just now government is in need of efficiency men, much the same as big industry employs men to study their operations and point out where the loss motion is and what method will most nearly take up their slack and yet keep the whole functioning perfectly.

Balancing the budget is very necessary, but be sure that the balancing will not leave the whole machine out of plumb or wopside. Keep the old ship of state from the nation's capitol to the smallest subdivision on an even keel.

Mrs. Pollard, hostess at the Oriole, had the place charmingly decorated for this delightful occasion and was untiring and successful in her efforts, serving the guests a two-course supper. The table was decorated in pink and white, pink ribbon playing a conspicuous part in the scheme of things.

A little bride and groom presently appeared on the scene, much to the surprise of the bride-elect who had been invited with not even a suspicion of what was going to be. The diminutive couple was represented by Master Gaines Kergosien and Miss Uddell Favre. Then the shower of many beautiful and useful things.

WORK AND PLAY

AT S. J. A.

LARGE CROWD WITNESSES TWO GAMES PLAYED SUNDAY T. S. J. A.

Sunday, January 15 will go down as another red letter day in annals of S. J. A. At two-thirty in the afternoon the gym was filled to its capacity. The Rock-A-Chows played the preliminary game which proved a thriller from start to finish. The Dedaux boys stayed right with Stanislaus team throughout and when the final whistle blew the score was a tie. Time successively after playing the allotted extra three minutes the score was still tied and finally both teams agreed to let the game remain an even draw.

Then came the Gold Jays' turn to show their worth. The S. J. A. "Speeders" from New Orleans proved themselves true to their name and surely showed some speed, but the Gold Jays outplayed them and kept the lead throughout the game and won by a margin of almost twenty points the score being 32-13.

Gold Jays Enjoy "Speeders" Visit

The day turned out to be a most happy one. The Gold Jays thoroughly enjoyed every minute of the Speeders visit. "We have never yet met a lovelier set of girls," is the Gold Jays' estimate of their sister "Speeders"—and S. J. A. of Bay St. Louis hopes to have the pleasure of welcoming S. J. A. of New Orleans soon again.

GOLD JAYS SCORE AGAINST PASS CHRISTIAN.

The Jays played another game Saturday night. This time they met the team from Pass Christian. This one also proved an easy victory for the Jays and lots of fun as well as it afforded practically every girl on the team a chance to play.

GOLD JAYS TO MEET KILN TUESDAY, JAN. 24, 8 P. M.

Next Tuesday night at eight after the Novena the Jays are scheduled for a game with Kiln. Kiln always provides us with a hard fight and we expect this to be an interesting game. Don't forget the date—Tuesday, January 24, 8 P. M.

SODALITY NEWS.

Card Party, Thurs. Jan. 19, 8 P. M. Sponsored by Children of Mary.

At the Sodality meeting held Thursday afternoon plans were made for the card parties to take place on Thursday afternoon and evening under auspices of the Children of Mary for the benefit of the gym. Many cakes and miscellaneous prizes were promised and each girl pledged to sell at least four tallies.

Children's Party to begin at 3 P. M. The first party will begin at 3:00 in the afternoon and will be only for children. The admission fee will be only 10 cents. All kinds of games will be played and miscellaneous prizes given for every game besides an entrance prize.

Evening Party for Adults. At 8:00 P. M. in the evening another party will be held for grown-ups. The price of each tally will be 25 cents. A delicious home-made cake will be the prize for each table. The entrance prize—a three pound box of candy—reflections will be served.

The proceeds of these two parties will be given to the gym fund. We Orleans the same afternoon. Mrs. Stewart's party was most successful and it is planned to be repeated at no distant day.

earnestly solicit your presence at the S. J. A. Gym, Thursday, January 19 at 8:00 P. M.

TO THE GOLD JAYS AND THEIR COACH.

Tell the world with pride-lit faces That our Jays have got a team A team that counts for fame and glory

And that plays a game that's clean Victory certain; defeat unknown When they're making for their goals For from the start until the finish They play with model sportsmen's souls

Tell the world with pride-lit faces That our Jays a coach do own A coach of whom they're very proud A better coach was never known.

A SENIOR RATES HER SUBJECTS.

ECHOES OF CHRISTMAS.

Christmas is over but now we see: Alice—With a pair of pink elephants, Maude—With a brand new wrist watch.

Elaine—With—(she won't tell us so we'll have to ask Shorty.) Evan—With a pretty compact. Lois—With a book she's wanted for ages.

Delta—With a Xmas card which she carries around all the time. Bernice—With a new pin (??). Clelia—With a Georgia Tech Frac bracelet.

And we surely are some proud Juniors, even though Santa didn't bring just exactly what we asked for.

SOLITUDE.

I sat upon a mossy bank, A statue calm and still— The western sky was all aflame I heard the whip-poor-will.

The river was smooth and tranquil And now and then a fish Just from sheer joy and carelessness Leaped up with a swish.

I heard the tinkling of the bells As the cattle wandered home, A twinkling star, though pale it shone, Appeared in heaven's dome.

The rosy clouds had turned to gray— One streak of scarlet there— The trees were black silhouettes In the thin gray air.

I heard the mournful calling of A screech owl to his mate, The birds had ceased their singing For it was getting late.

A grayish purple reigned supreme There were no more tinted clouds, And night fast on the heels of day Approached in his black shrouds.

The moon like a golden apple Peeped at me o'er the hill She and the clouds vied for victory, And I sat there quiet and still.

The whip-poor-will ceased his crying, And the stars came out so bright— I was an insignificant atom In the Domain of the Night.
